

WHY TAKE CARE OF A HUMAN BEING?

SCIENTIFIC DIRECTORS:

Prof. Maria Luisa Di Pietro

Prof. Raffaello Furlan

After the two interesting seminars held last year in a cycle called "Medice cura te ipsum", Humanitas University has decided to offer a training course in interaction with clinical realities, which aims to stimulate reflection on the ethical issues related to the life and health sciences.

This course is offered to Medicine and Surgery students as well as Nursing and Physiotherapy students.

The aim of the course is to create a systematic bioethical pathway whose starting point is the knowledge that the technical-scientific skills must always be integrated with a profound sensitivity regarding the problems of the suffering human being and the sense of ethical-social responsibility.

This aim can be achieved through a series of seminars whose method and purpose are:

- The identification of the ethical problems that have emerged in the development of experimental sciences;
- The knowledge of the anthropological and ethical foundations on which healthcare decision-making is based;
- The discussion of clinical cases.

This course includes 16 seminars (May 2017 - June 2020).

The 2-hour seminars will be held on Wednesdays from 1 pm to 3 pm.

Venue:

 Humanitas Congress Centre
Via Manzoni 113 - Rozzano, Milan

Contacts:

Ph: +39 02 82242369

Email: centro.congressi@humanitas.it

PROGRAM AND SPEAKERS 2017

31 May 2017 - 1 pm to 3 pm

Bioethics: critical conscience of technological society

Prof. Adriano Pessina

Professor of Moral Philosophy, Department of Educational Sciences, and Director of the University Center for Bioethics, Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore - Milan.

18 October 2017- 1 pm to 3 pm

Identity, human dignity, and rights

Prof. Maria Luisa Di Pietro

Associate Professor of Forensic Medicine, Department of Medicine and Surgery, and Director of the Center for Global Health Research and Studies, Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore - Rome.

Prof. Alfredo Mantovano

Magistrate, Advisor to the Appellate Court of Rome, President of the Centro Rosario Livatino - Rome.

13 December 2017- 1 pm to 3 pm

The Freedom between Autonomy and Responsibility. The case of the physicianpatient relationship.

Prof. Elena Colombetti

Associate Professor of Moral Philosophy, Department of Educational Sciences, Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore - Milan.

Prof. Ivo Lizzola

Professor of Pedagogy, Department of Human and Social Sciences, Università degli Studi di Bergamo, Bergamo.

Translation will be provided.
Light lunch offered.